A Police Clearance Certificate is an important document to a majority of expats and professionals working in and living in United Arab Emirates either out of employment, seeking to get a job or live in the country permanently. It authenticates that an individual has no criminal record in the country of issuance.

Nevertheless, to be accepted as a valid document by the UAE authorities, the UAE PCC has to be duly attested. In the event you are on the verge of a very short deadline, whether it is the joining dates of a job, the visa process, or the move and you need it done urgently, then the news is that, there is the option of fast-tracking police clearance certificate. This is an ultimate guide on how to attest Police Clearance Certificates the fastest way to the UAE.

A Police Clearance Certificate is an important document certifying the status of no criminal record, it is regularly needed in order to become an employee, immigrant or resident. UAE PCC or Dubai Police Clearance is normally issued locally and such certificate attestation in UAE can be considered to be legally acceptable.

Whichever you are applying a PCC, medical certificate attestation, or any personal documents the certificate attestation in Dubai and in other emirates has a number of processes by the concerned authorities. This is done to make your certificate attestation valid to the government departments, as well as the foreign embassies in the UAE.

Step 1: Request of the PCC from Authorities

First, this makes sure that your Police Clearance Certificate was provided by the right authority:

In India: local police department or regional Passport office

In Philippines: National Bureau of Investigation (NBI)

In Pakistan: The Ministry of interior or police department

UK/US: local police or FBI/ACRO

The certificate should not be a copy, have official stamps and should not be too old normally not older than 6 months.

Step 2: Notarise and verify (where needed)

In most countries, the PCC has to be notarized first or signed by a local authority. It is especially so when the document is issued at the state or regional levels. Depending on the country, it can be authenticated by the Home Department, Ministry of interior, or the Justice department following its notarization.

Step 3: MEA or similar other Attestation

After its local verification, the document has to be attested by the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) or its counterpart in your country. This is one of the imperative processes prior to having the certificate being made available at UAE Embassy.

- To process more quickly, originality.
- Apply at an attestation center that has been approved by MEA
- Secure express service, which tends to handle documents in a 24 48 hr period

Step 4: Attestation of UAE Embassy

Once the MEA attested, the next step involving the PCC will require the UAE Embassy or Consulate to attest the PCC in the nation of issue. This confirms the fact that UAE government does not doubt the authenticity of the document.

Hint: Most of the attestation agencies also provide courier which can be used to complete this procedure without visiting the embassy physically.

Step 5: MOFA in the UAE

The last process is attesting it by UAE MOFA. After the PCC gets to the UAE (or was under the fact issued in it), you will be able to submit it by:

- Online portal of MOFAIC
- Certified typing facilities
- Attestation service providers that deliver the same-day MOFA stamping

The best way to ensure that a Police Clearance Certificate to the UAE is attested in the shortest possible time is through effective planning, appointing legitimate bodies, and enraging fast-tracks within all the procedures. Through proper order of attestation and no waste of time, you can have your UAE PCC recognized before the law of the land of UAE within the shortest time and as quickly as possible thus keeping your visa, employment or residency plan on track.
